

Design in colour

Expansive use of colour softens a distinctive presence in the landscape.

While the form of this house – a rusting steel T on a hill – could be described as heroic, it's much more intelligent than that, and that's seen particularly in its use of colour.

The rough exterior is softened with panels of custom-made 50/50 Resene Panzano and Resene Untamed, and Resene Parsonson Elephant Grey – inspired by the landscape. Inside, Resene Imprint, custom-made Resene Parsonson Visionary Orange, Resene Candy Floss and Resene Rock Spray contrast with timber. It's not all punchy: neutral tones of Resene Thorndon Cream and Resene Rice Cake create calm spaces in bedrooms and living areas, while Resene Blackjack warmly frames everything from concrete to timber.
