MONTH

PRETTY IN PINK

Jane and William Teasdale often look outside to discover people photographing their pretty pink home. Painted in Resene 'Clam Shell' with Resene 'Soapstone' on the trims, the historic 1860s cottage in Nelson regularly captures the attention of those passing by. "The cottage is often admired and it is not unusual to find people taking photos outside our gate," Jane says. "Resene 'Clam Shell' looks so sweet on the cottage and when my garden is in bloom it is a lovely sight. We feel very happy with the result."

THANK YOU TO ALL WHO ENTERED!

This is the last of our five finalists in the Resene Colour Home Awards competition. The winner, who receives a $5000 cash prize, will be announced in the next issue of Your Home & Garden, on sale 14 February 2011. The winning home will also be featured in the magazine.

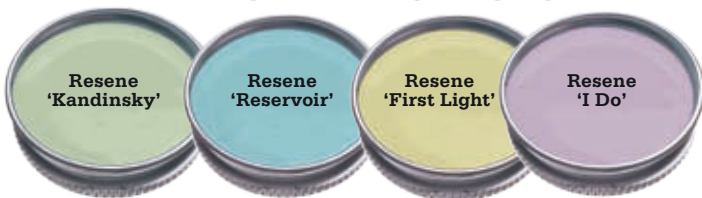

MAKE AN IMPACT

+ When you're choosing colours for the exterior of your home, it's always good to consider what else is around your home – such as your garden – to ensure that the colours you choose harmonise with the surrounding environment.

Also, paint gloss levels can also play a big part in how your home looks. If you want the colours to appear clean and bright, opt for a high gloss like Resene Hi-Glo, which will also be easy to clean. If you are looking for something subtle, then try a low sheen finish like Resene Lumbersider.

If you can't decide between a gloss or low sheen finish you can choose a semi-gloss like Resene Sonyx 101, which is easier to clean than a low sheen but not as bright as a full gloss.
