WINNING PAIR

Colours of the Season: Resene presents BLACK & WHITE.

We may be known for our love of black clothing, but it's also becoming popular for our homes. Black is smart, sophisticated, dramatic, masculine, moody and urbane. As black will make a room appear smaller and more enclosed, it's superb for a space that's more likely to be used in the evening, such as a media or TV room, or a bedroom. Well-planned lighting can heighten the effect of black by casting a wash of soft light over a wall. Enjoy the depth of black without it becoming overpowering by contrasting it with white or light trims, adjacent surfaces, stripes or using a colour-blocking effect. All you need is low-tack masking tape, your favourite Resene colours and a little imagination to decide the size and orientation of the stripes or blocks. Turning stripes horizontally is a new twist on traditional vertical lines and helps accentuate the width of your room. The Resene fashion range includes the latest on-trend colours to dress your home. Available from Resene ColorShops and resellers, resene.co.nz/colorshops, 0800 737 363. I SEE RED

Colours of the Season: Resene presents RED.

It's not just a fashion thing – the colour red seems to be a perennial favourite. Maybe it's the saturated, strong quality of our light, or the brightly flowering pohutukawa trees to which we've grown so attached. We happily wear, paint our walls, drive in and accessorise our houses with red. Red is associated with passion, energy and a healthy appetite. Pale bright red is all about romantic love, but switch to a saturated true red and it becomes more sensual. Add more black to red and you get sophisticated and mellow, reminiscent of red wine, velvet curtains and Oriental rugs. In interiors, red has often been used as a feature wall, a backdrop of strong colour at one end of a room. It's a good solution for those who find red too overpowering on all their walls. Red stimulates appetite, so restaurants love it – and at home, we can do the same in our dining rooms. The Resene fashion range includes the latest on-trend colours to dress your home.
