

Get The Look

To achieve a sleek monochromatic look, pair the Resene All Black with the Resene Double Alabaster as pictured here. The rich hues combine exquisitely with muted neutral accents, such as the Tonk Stool from St Clements and the Sigmund throw and cushion by Missoni. Add a dash of Resene Quarter Delta for an alternative flair; the sophisticated colour palette leaves room for textured rugs, wooden hues and indoor greenery, a simple way to finish off the look.

THE PERFECT MATCH

Monochrome Magic

Tap into the elegant and sleek style that promises to endure for years to come.

Keeping to a monochromatic palette is one of the most straightforward and effective interior style choices. Black, when paired with white offers a classic, no-fuss aesthetic, and when teamed with a variety of textures, patterns, and, of course, indoor plants, the impactful look is far from two-dimensional. It might feel unlikely, but considering a feature wall in either end of the spectrum will add to the dimension and depth of a space as well as enhancing its versatility. A crisp white wall can be offset with a patterned throw, or if you prefer, coloured accents can make an appearance in the form of lighting, sofas and coffee tables. Desirable living awaits.

Paints and colours available from Resene ColorShops nationwide
0800 RESENE (737 363)
resene.co.nz/colorshops

1. Klaylife Clay chandelier from Indie Home Collective

2. Tonk stool from St Clements

3. Retro armchair from Indie Home Collective

4. Sigmund throw and cushion by Missoni from Tessuti

THE SPACE

The Reading Nook

Let nature's touch instil its inherent calm for maximum concentration.

Styling by Claudia Kozub

Resene Passport

Resene Spanish White

Resene Duck Egg Blue

Resene Organic

A tranquil place where one's mind can rest at ease, in order to digest literary volumes, pore over coveted coffee table books and jot down diary notes, the reading nook is a space for pause and reflection. Enhanced by a healthy dose of natural light, to fully capture its potential, try incorporating elements of nature-bound hues — from dusty sky blues and organic greens, through to leafy planters and woven straw touches — to reap the calming benefits.

Paints and colours available from Resene ColorShops nationwide
0800 RESENE (737 363)
resene.co.nz/colorshops

Get The Look

To achieve utmost serenity, tap into the humble hues of Resene Passport and Resene Organic greens, if not Resene Duck Egg Blue, balanced with the wholesome off-white of a jute rug and the warmth of Resene Spanish White. Touches of crisp white in the form of pots and rugs can finish the look, while beige, oatmeal, khaki, mushroom and taupe ought to feature on the shelves' various books and objet d'art. Oh, and don't forget the plants.

1. Jute laundry basket from Superette

2. Wood Planter
by Case Study
from Tessuti

3. Salak Rattan lampshade from Indie Home Collective

4. Green vase
from Father Rabbit

5. Wool Sheepskin
from Father Rabbit

6. Arnold Circus stool
by Martino Gamper
from Simon James Design

7. Braided Jute rug
by Nodi
from Tim Webber Design

7

KIDS

Bold Contrast

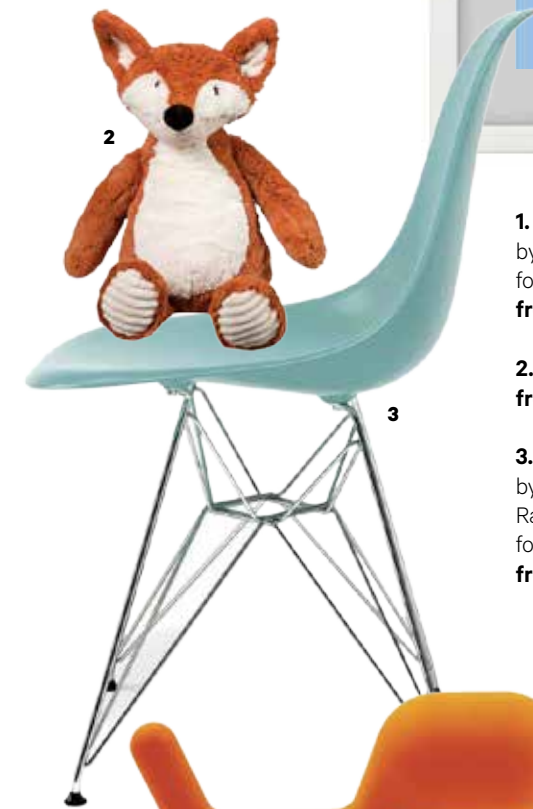

Straying away from neutral tones, this colour clash is sure to encourage the little one's creativity.

Though the freshness of an all-white wall can never be denied, when it comes to the kids' rooms, there's often some leeway for creative licence. A fun excuse to experiment with colour and texture, this fade effect is a lively way to introduce a brighter hue to the home. Using Resene's contrasting Point Break and Ruby Tuesday paint colours, the colour match is a gender neutral solution sure to please the poppets. If the little Miss or Mister is particularly fond of purple, or green or pink, however, fear not — there's plenty of room to play.

Paints and colours available from Resene ColorShops nationwide
 0800 RESENE (737 363)
resene.co.nz/colorshops

Styling by Greer Clayton

Get The Look

The best thing about updating a room with paint is that it's quick and cheap to change. So as the kids grow, their rooms can mature to match. When introducing a dramatic feature wall, it's always best to keep the other surfaces pared-back, even the floor can benefit from a light coating, as seen here using Resene Double Alabaster.

1. Airway swing by Philippe Starck for Kartell from Backhouse

2. Basil the fox from Citta

3. DSR chair by Charles & Ray Eames for Eames from Matisse

4. Lion print from Milla + Roo

5. Puppy by Eero Aarnio for Magis from ECC

6. Coil basket from Superette

